Extended Acknowledgments

Funds for this short History of Acworth have been provided by the Acworth Community Charitable Trust. A special appreciation goes to the Acworth Community Charitable Trust for being very gracious with their funding and patience as well as funding from the N.H. Humanities Council, donations, and private gifts.

The amount of time, expenses, processing, inquiries, and researching procedural correspondence challenged and compromised the budget. Gifts, donations, and waived fees aided to recondition this project and allowed this fascinating and interesting story of a small water-powered sawmill, an old dairy barn, and the Acworth Church during 1800-1825 during the church's construction with its unique individualized culture to be interpreted.

I want to thank the many people who shared their knowledge, expertise, time, enthusiasm, support, and encouragement. The Board of Directors of Northern Heritage Mills. Sue Richardson-Daniels, Dr. Mark Wellens, M.D, Skip Parks. Margret Smead and Ronald B. DeMuro deserve a special thank you for the energy, time, and support working through imposing challenges with much patience.
